

Thank you so much for this opportunity to eliminate the needless and bothersome telemarketer calls to my home. We were constantly being bombarded with calls during meals and "family time" with my kids; which time is limited and precious these days. The marketing companies can go back to sending me info in the mail so I can decide when and where to review their information, instead of them intruding on my home life. This is a wonderful Act, please don't change a thing!
